

Wiltshire Police's approach to efficiency is judged to be 'good' - HMIC

In the second year of assessing police against the annual PEEL Efficiency inspection, Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary examined how police forces use their resources now and how they plan to do so in the future in order to keep people safe and reduce crime.

Forces were inspected on how well they are able to predict demand for their services now and in the longer term, and how they manage their resources, especially their officers and staff.

HMIC inspects all police forces in England and Wales on an annual basis against the themes of effectiveness, efficiency and legitimacy.

This year, HMIC found that Wiltshire Police:

- is good at understanding demand;
- has worked to understand hidden demand; and
- has plans to identify the skills of its officers and staff to prepare for future need.

HM Inspector of Constabulary Wendy Williams said:

"Wiltshire Police continues to efficiently keep people safe and reduce crime. As was the case in 2015, HMIC has judged Wiltshire Police to be 'good' in this area. The basis for its continued good performance is its ability to understand and manage the demand for its services. This is supported by extensive analysis of calls to the force, as well as working with frontline staff to understand hidden demand.

"The force also assesses emerging or likely future demand, for example by reviewing increases in domestic abuse cases and troubled families' referrals. The force understands current workforce capabilities and gaps, and has refreshed its recruitment strategy to ensure not only that recruitment plans meet demand but also that skills and resources keep pace with changes in crime types, for example, growth in cyber-crime and firearms offences."

"Wiltshire Police has recognised the need to work more closely with other blue light organisations to lessen the effect of reduced resources. This means that the force is well placed to react efficiently to changes in the demand for its services."

HMIC will report on its findings of police forces' legitimacy, or the way that forces are fair and ethical, at the end of this year, and on the effectiveness of police forces in managing all aspects of crime in spring 2017.

Notes to editors

1. Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) is an independent inspectorate, inspecting policing in the public interest, and assesses and reports on the effectiveness, efficiency and legitimacy of police forces in tackling crime and terrorism, improve criminal justice and raise confidence. HMIC inspects all 43 police forces in England and Wales together with other major policing and law enforcement bodies.
2. As part of its annual inspections of police effectiveness, efficiency and legitimacy (PEEL), HMIC's Efficiency programme assessed and graded all 43 forces in England and Wales on how efficient they are at keeping people safe and reducing crime. To answer this question we looked at three areas:
 1. How well does the force use its resources to meet demand?
 2. How sustainable and affordable is the workforce model?
 3. How sustainable is the force's financial position for the short and long term?
3. Two of the 43 forces in England and Wales received an 'outstanding' grade in HMIC's efficiency inspection (Durham and West Midlands).
4. Eight forces received a 'requires improvement' grade (Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire, City of London, Devon and Cornwall, Dyfed Powys, Humberside, Nottinghamshire and South Yorkshire Police).
5. The remaining 33 forces were judged as 'good'.
6. No forces were judged to be 'inadequate'.
7. In addition to an inspection report for each force, a national report, PEEL: Police Efficiency 2016 gives an overview of findings across England and Wales.
8. Last year (2015), five forces were 'outstanding' (Cheshire; Durham; Lancashire; Norfolk; and West Midlands). Eight forces received a 'requires improvement' grade (Bedfordshire; Cleveland; Dorset; Dyfed Powys; Lincolnshire; Northamptonshire; South Yorkshire; and Surrey). One force received an 'inadequate' grade (Humberside) and the remaining 29 forces were judged as 'good'. These reports are available on our website.
